

THE TAKE-OVER: THE BODY STRIKES BACK

The body remains one of the most awkward ingredients of organizational life. Overlooked, deliberately ignored, stigmatized.

In our session we bring the body back into play

We do so by first discussing the – largely unanticipated – bodily dimensions of a full month ‘job swap’ between an Argentinean performance artist and a Dutch professor of Change Management.

After this, we collectively explore what role our own bodies play at AOMO. What does a conference body look like? What kind of body is assumed, summoned, evoked, produced here in Brighton?

Please join us and bring your post-conference diner body

SUNDAY, 10 AM

[MIEKE MOOR & JACCO VAN UDEN]